

American Indian People in North Carolina's Revolution ^[1]

Colonists on North Carolina's western frontier wanted to continue expanding westward, and they resented British attempts to keep them out of Cherokee lands. The Cherokee knew that they would be pushed out of the way if the colonists won their war for independence. The Cherokee therefore sided with the British, and in the summer of 1776 they attacked white settlers along the frontier.

In response, North Carolina revolutionaries attacked Cherokee villages. Led by General Griffith Rutherford, they burned villages and destroyed crops and food supplies. White settlers and the Cherokee hated each other, and their resentment now turned into barbaric violence. We've seen resentment turn to brutality before, and, unfortunately, we'll see it again in the next chapter.

Section Content

- The Cherokees' and Catawbas' Stance in the Revolutionary War^[2]
- Primary Source: Boundary Between North Carolina and the Cherokee Nation, 1767^[3]
- Primary Source: The Transylvania Purchase and the Treaty of Sycamore Shoals, March 17, 1775^[4]
- The Rutherford Expedition ^[5]
- Primary Source: A Letter to Brigadier General Rutherford ^[6]
- Primary Source: Cherokee Leaders Speak About Land Cessions ^[7]
- The Abduction of Jemima Boone ^[8]

From:

ANCHOR: A North Carolina History Online Resource ^[9]

Copyright Date:

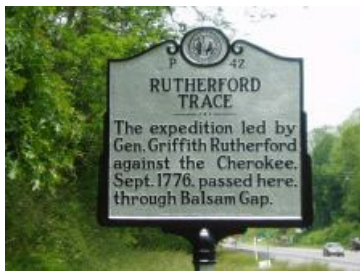

2009

People:

Griffith Rutherford ^[10]

Nancy Ward ^[11]

Places:

^[12]

NC Highway Historical Marker P-42, located in Haywood County

Related Topics:

Cherokee People in the American Revolution ^[13]

Rutherford's Campaign ^[14]

3 January 2018

Source URL: <https://ncpedia.org/anchor/american-indian-people-north>

Links

^[1] <https://ncpedia.org/anchor/american-indian-people-north> ^[2] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/cherokees-and-catawbas> ^[3] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/primary-source-boundary> ^[4] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/primary-source-transylvania> ^[5] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/rutherford-expedition> ^[6] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/primary-source-letter-2> ^[7] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/primary-source-cherokee> ^[8] <https://www.ncpedia.org/anchor/abduction-jemima-boone> ^[9] <https://ncpedia.org/category/entry-source/anchor-north> ^[10] <https://www.ncpedia.org/biography/rutherford-griffith> ^[11] <https://www.ncpedia.org/biography/ward-nancy> ^[12] <http://www.ncmarkers.com/Markers.aspx?MarkerId=P-42> ^[13]

