The Shoffner Act, introduced by state senator T. M. Shoffner of Alamance County ^[3] and passed in 1870, empowered the governor to suspend habeas corpus and use militia to restore order in counties where Ku Klux Klan ^[4] terrorism raged out of control. Governor William W. Holden ^[5] invoked the act that year to suppress the Klan in Alamance and Caswell Counties ^[6], igniting the so-called Kirk-Holden War ^[7] and leading to Holden's impeachment and removal from office.
