The song known as "The Old North State" was adopted as the official song of the State of North Carolina by the General Assembly of 1927.

Selection as State Song

"The Old North State" had been sung as the unofficial state popular song since it was written in 1835, but it was not officially put into law until 1927.

About the State Song

The lyrics to "The Old North State" were written by Judge William Gaston ^[4] of the North Carolina supreme court, who was born in New Bern in 1778. According to the traditional story, Judge Gaston overheard a group of young girls singing the tune, which they had heard previously at a local concert of the "Swiss bell-ringers." Gaston thought that such a pretty tune should have words, and wrote the current lyrics in 1835. In 1928 the Caswell-Nash chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution placed a bronze tablet honoring Gaston on the corner of Hargett and Salisbury streets, where it is thought that Gaston penned the song.

There were few arrangements and printings of the song prior to 1926, and the anthem was largely passed down orally through the generations. This resulted in slight variations in the notes and words throughout the state. After it was adopted as the state song in 1927, the tune and words were standardized, and additional sheet music printings and band arrangements were commissioned.

The below recording is an instrumental version of the "Old North State" as performed by the North Carolina Symphony ^[5] as conducted by Ben Swalin. THE OLD NORTH STATE

(words by William Gaston)

"Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her!
While we live we will cherish, protect and defend her;
Though the scorner may sneer at and wifings defame her,
Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.
Hurrah! Hurrah! The Old North State forever!
Hurrah! Hurrah! The good Old North State!

Though she envies not others their merited glory,
Say, whose name stands the foremost in Liberty's story!
Though too true to herself e'er to crouch to oppression,
Who can yield to just rule more loyal submission?

Plain and artless her sons, but whose doors open faster
At the knock of a stranger, or the tale of disaster?
How like to the rudeness of their dear native mountains,
With rich ore in their bosoms and life in their fountains.

And her daughters, the Queen of the Forest resembling—
So graceful, so constant, yet to gentlest breath trembling;
And true lightwood at heart, let the match be applied them,
How they kindle and flame! Oh! none know but who've tried them.

Then let all who love us, love the land that we live in
(As happy a region on this side of Heaven),
Where Plenty and Freedom, Love and Peace smile before us,
Raise aloud, raise together, the heart-thrilling chorus!"
