Creator: Orlo Epps, Architect

Materials & Techniques: Granite and bronze.

Cost: $Governor Holt gave a contribution of $400 for this monument

Unveiling & Dedication: An audience of 15,000, including many prominent individuals, was present at the unveiling. The ceremony started at 11am with a parade starting at David Schenck's park headquarters and ending at a podium on the southeastern side of the park. Colonel Joseph Morehead was the Master of Ceremonies and Governor Holt gave an address at the unveiling.

Subject notes: Winston (1746 - 1815) was a Colonel in the North Carolina Militia and fought at the battle of Guilford Courthouse while serving as a Major for the Continental Army. He later served three terms in the United States House of Representatives. The town of Winston-Salem is named in part after this Revolutionary War hero.

Location: The monument faces east, in the direction Winston's enemy stood. It was placed where the North Carolina militia under Winston's command was believed to have fought.

Former Locations: In 1893, only the base of the sculpture was dedicated. The statue of Winston was added in 1895 after additional funds were raised.

Landscape: The monument is located near tour stop #4 on of the tour road. To get to the monument, one must walk a small foot trail. The body of Winston was reinterred nearby in 1906.
