Description: This 3' x 4' x 6" granite monument has a polished frame on the front face where the inscription appears below a pair of crossed sabers rendered in bas-relief.

Nickname: Old Bridge Monument

Inscription:

BATTLE OF / MOORE'S CREEK BRIDGE / FEBRUARY 27, 1776 / HERE STOOD THE BRIDGE OF / REVOLUTIONARY FAME WHERE 1000 / PATRIOTS UNDER COLS. RICHARD / CASWELL AND ALEXANDER / LILLINGTON DEFEATED 1600 / LOYALISTS LED BY CAPTIAN MCLEOD. / COL. JAMES MOORE COMMANDED / ALL THE PATRIOTS WHO EMBODIED / TO OPPOSE THE LOYALISTS UNDER / BRIG. GEN. DONALD MCDONALD.

Dedication date: 1931

Creator: Carolina Cut Stone Company, Wilmington, Unspecified

Materials & Techniques: Granite

Sponsor: The monument may have been purchased with federal funds.

Cost: $2000

Post dedication use: An annual ceremony is held in February with historic military demonstrations and reenactments.

Subject notes: During the period when Moores Creek battlefield transferred hands from the Moores Creek Battleground Association to the U.S. War Department, the new administration sought to move away from the previous emphasis on commemoration and focus on specifics of the actual battle. As a result, the Bridge Monument was erected as a part of the changing landscape on the battlefield, and the text was written by the Army War College.

Location: The monument is located near the historic road and beside the reconstructed bridge.

Former Locations: Originally positioned in front of the reconstructed bridge, the monument was moved and rotated in 1938 so the inscription would be read from the south instead of the east. By moving the monument off the historic road to the side, it no longer obstructed access to the bridge.

Landscape: The monument is tucked away on the battlefield near trees and shrubs beside the creek.
