Home > ANCHOR > Early National (1790-1836) > Creating a State

Creating a State

After the Revolution, North Carolina had achieved its independence — but old conflicts still smoldered. Western settlers still complained of a lack of money, their distance from the state's government, and the influence of eastern elites. Wealthy planters, lawyers, and merchants disagreed with common people about how much freedom and democracy were too much. Anti-federalists had accepted North Carolina's place in the new nation but still resented the power of the new federal government.

By the middle of the 1790s, these differences of opinion had hardened into something new in American politics — a pair of political parties, the Federalists and the Democratic-Republicans, whose violent debates threatened to tear the new nation apart. How much power the central government should have, whether the United States should be a commercial nation or an agricultural one, whether the young republic should lean towards democracy or rule by elites — all these issues would take decades to settle, and in fact we are still debating them today.

Section Contents

- The State of Franklin
- The United States in the 1790s
- A Capital in the "Wilderness"
- Nathaniel Macon
- Nathaniel Macon on Democracy
- The Walton War

User Tags:

Chapter Cover history Nathaniel Macon North Carolina North Carolina History Raleigh Students Teachers Walton War Creative Commons BY-NC-SA From: ANCHOR: A North Carolina History Online Resource Copyright Date: 2009 Primary Sources:

A. Union Sauores mande a verice of the how and a fine prospect of the Sussin ing Country on the cantie of this Square the State hease will be Placed . B. Your Groves of young caks and the kory containing an dere each neatly him of grubbid. C. four open squares se 14 53 for Publick purposes. that in the ette corner is supposed to 60 be a proper situation for the Goodans Antes a. b. c. d Ralifan, Mewhern, Fayette & Wills borough Streets e. f.g. Lan Tones of Education Sheeks, h. e. K. Morgan Hargett & ellartin St. I. m. n. Davie, Galarnes & Lenvis Smell. O. p. q. r. Bloodworth Arron, Blounty Wilmington St. s. t. v. w. Sales bury the Bowald Samen & Harrington Shut. The four main Sheeting g feel and the others blo fut wide . anothe politics a reform .10 13 149 193 199 194 no of the fores liese. mo hal ha 18 245 A co 13 246 37 210 210 2/2 the State , there of the 1276 240 20 912 212 723 256 256 116 229 0.0 R. conthout 15 216 237 140 1108 Val 202 245 244 142 244 not tree as d 12 212 213 1.06 219 19 260. 240 Phar P. Werer as h 2.09 160 166 ne stal 67 74 271 2/2 271 379 19 270 anauta. area. 1he abecen they . These is clear [1]

North Carolina established Raleigh as its permanent capital in 1792.

3 January 2018

Source URL: https://ncpedia.org/anchor/creating-state

Links

[1] https://www.ncpedia.org/media/map/william-christmas-plan