

Australian soldier in Korea, 1951

Australian soldier in Korea, 1951

During the Korean War, Private Chris Bell-Chambers, sniper of the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment, smiles and waves to a group of Korean children who have come out of hiding following the liberation of their village from enemy forces.

39 countries participated in the Korean War. More specifically, over 17,000 Australians served. The Cold War also was the start of international adoptions. The adoptions were often organized through religious groups or private organizations.

To find out more about the Korean War, and Australia's involvement go to:

<https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/atwar/korea>

<https://www2.gwu.edu/~erpapers/teaching/glossary/korean-war.cfm>

For more about international adoptions go to:

<https://pages.uoregon.edu/adoption/topics/internationaladoption.htm>

Citation (Chicago Style):

[Australian soldier in Korea, 1951]. 1951. Film negative. Australian War Memorial Collection. <https://www.awm.gov.au/collection/C294313> (Accessed December 10, 2018)

Available at:

<https://www.awm.gov.au/collection/C294313>

Read the related article: The Korean War
Usage Statement:

Public Domain

Public Domain

Public Domain is a copyright term that is often used when talking about copyright for creative works. Under U.S. copyright law, individual items that are in the public domain are items that are no longer protected by copyright law. This means that you do not need to request permission to re-use, re-publish or even change a copy of the item. Items enter the public domain under U.S. copyright law for a number of reasons: the original copyright may have expired; the item was created by the U.S. Federal Government or other governmental entity that views the things it creates as in the public domain; the work was never protected by copyright for some other reason related to how it was produced (for example, it was a speech that wasn't written down or recorded); or the work doesn't have enough originality to make it eligible for copyright protection.

Source URL:<https://ncpedia.org/media/australian-soldier-korea-1951>